

ABSTRACT

A bone grafting material, a method of producing the same, and an implant. The bone grafting material comprises a porous carrier of ceramic or glass ceramic or glass material and at least one pyrrolidone arranged in the carrier.

(Figure 1)